

Gameday Nov 5th 2006

The Irish Rovers have a song called "Wasn't that a party Finns and Kiwis have a phrase "Wasn't that a game". Yes Si wasn't that a game November 5 that "The Green" was some game. Push Play event for Counties Manukau Sports and we were there.

Up to 22 players were there today. New faces and known faces. Smiling faces. We had a sub all. Look there are too many names to put into this newsletter and that is sad because everyone at the game today made the day so special and it wasn't anyone it was the whole damn lot. The sun was shining and the ground all in its white regalia. It was a royal ceremony for people there to take part in it.

I know I said I couldn't name anyone but I really have too. I named Jasmine. Now this is what I saw and I don't know if she arrived and Jas was just one player arriving for the game. She just filled a gap and went about doing stuff. The off fielding taking a brilliant catch but most importantly she came near her. She was fantastic. That isn't where I base on she seemed to flow across the field at a pace only at 75%. Well if that is so then I am telling you this showed and to make it worse she didn't even break into a run so she will become a name to follow in any sport players at the game that was so fantastic. I was blown

Tell you what today was really a pressured day. What with watching our game. That we were on display as part of the Push Play event to beat the game today was really something. Skill for a long time. We can fix that easily. The enthusiasm was a bit low. Hey we had kids who had never played before and some of them were really good. This game ladies and gentlemen has so much potential here in the game but an activity to get the nation moving. It is right to work so hard with some really great people to try to get the game to the top of the sport scene of the nation. Today show us how you are contributing well to the game and to showing the new comers to work a wee bit harder.

At the end of the game we voted to move the times a lot of people may be a better time for other activities which are important to the game is your game so whatever is to happen in the game in the new time and see how it goes. But for those who came to this bloke a very happy bloke indeed. Look there was so much to mention it here but they all know how it went eh?
Cheers
Gavin
